Witness Tells of Bribing Supervisors

Former Supervisor Takes Stand in Calhoun Case and Recites Story of the Bribing of the Board.

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—Sullen resignation characterized the attitude of Fred P. Nicholas on the witness stand in the trial of Patrick Calhoun today. Nicholas is the man whom the president of the United Railroads is accused of offering to bribe to vote for the overhead trolley franchise while he was a member of the board of supervisors. He was placed on the stand by the prosecution yesterday and the direct examination resumed this morning. When the court adjourned Nicholas was still undergoing a searching examination by the attorneys, repeating again and again his story of the bribing of the board. The questions of District Attorney Heney brought from the witness his story of receiving $4000 from Supervisor J. L. Gallagher as his share of the bribe.
Earl Rogers, Calhoun's attorney, took up the cross examination. He enlarged upon the field of inquiry to include the various other alleged bribes by public service corporations and forced the witness to repeat time after time his statement that he would have voted for the franchise even without a bribe had he been let to dictate his own conscience. The proceedings were enlivened by frequent tilts between counsel over the admissibility of certain questions and when the court adjourned until Monday the people were engaged in the re-direct examination.

Wingfield Is Hostile to San Francisco Board

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—"It doesn't make much different one way or the other whether the gambling houses are closed in Nevada, but I want to tell you one thing: In the worst days there was never any worse gambling going on in Nevada than takes place on your San Francisco stock exchange," George Wingfield, the richest mining man in Nevada, and a man who knows about all there is to both sorts of gambling, fired this remark across a table at the St Francis last evening, and there was a vigorous snap to his eyes as he spoke.
"Of course, I gamble in stocks myself, and that's all the gambling I do," he volunteered. "But I'll tell you this much, they haven't acted just right down here on the stock exchange. They've made some nasty
